Meet a few of us...

Design Director

Paul Cohen

Loves all things Christmas and would like to be employed by Father Christmas one day. Paul, or PC as he's better known, creates beautiful, uncluttered and practical designs—a mere 1,785km from the North Pole!

Creative Director

Nick Cordell

He likes to think he's an expert mountain biker, but Nick tends to spend more time in hospital after crashing than on the trails. No matter how incapacitated he is, he always comes up with design gold!

Internal Communications Director

Carly Murray

Fancies herself as an 80s popstar, but unfortunately, she can't sing for toffee. Even in the shower. Thankfully, Carly sounds much better when talking about all things internal communications related.

Behaviours & Employer Brands

Simon Andrew

Hasn't done a triathlon for years but still bangs on about it today. Also bangs on about understanding employee behaviour being key to any successful employee-led project.

Senior Account Executive

Megan Hambly

Typically buried somewhere in a bookshop reading the current best-seller. But when she's not, she'll be digesting the latest client briefs and turning them into perfect project plans.

What gets us out of bed in the morning

Our mission

We want to create a world where boring is banned... forever!

Why we do what we do

Because we love engaging people through creative solutions that tackle real-life challenges.

What we do

We banish boring through killer IC campaigns, empowering EVP and employer brands, daring design and dynamite digital solutions.

How we do it

We fire up our grey matter and create ideas and approaches that turn the mundane into the marvellous.

Our areas of expertise

Internal Comms & Change

We'll cut out the chaff, keep it simple and help you create and share engaging and impactful stories. It's our insight, our ability to pair solution-providing campaign strategies and activations with cool, creative content that keeps clients coming back for more.

EVP & Employer Brands

Come for the internal comms and stay for the EVP! So your internal brand is a little drab, and you're not getting your fair share of the talent out there. We get it. Our Employee Value Propositions expert team can reinvigorate your employer brand, and make you dazzle for new recruits and existing teams alike.

Design & Brands

Bad design is soooo 2021. Because we get to know you before we even think about opening InDesign, we're one step ahead. We'll take your brief and turn it into something beautiful which just works across multiple channels and settings. It will hit your brief and maybe even take it to another level.

Events & Exhibitions

Virutal or face-to-face, we apply our banish boring mantra to the events and exhibitions we set up and run for our clients, too. We're 'people' people and love connecting people to people to get important messages across and embedded in an immersive and engaging way. It's an approach that works, evidenced by how our clients keep coming back to us to tell their stories through events and team get-togethers.

Animation & Film

Real-life videos, talking heads, interviews, animation, GIFs, minimations, rich pictures, scripting, storyboarding – whether it's for internal or external audiences, we can bring your story to life through moving pictures.

Digital Solutions

We transform your digital solutions and bust the complex by designing, developing, and delivering multi-platform solutions for web and mobile apps and online gamification.

"Our brand needs to be more visible. We want people to know they will get the best experience with us - an experience that is not just better than our competitors, but one that is unique to us."

Jelte Hacquebord - Chief Commercial Officer

Insight

Global recruitment agency SThree were launching their new brand internally, and needed our help. The campaign was way more than just an altered logo, it was a change in approach, in tone, in how they wanted their people to act differently. We had to make sure their people knew they were part of something bigger so they could look to the future with excitement.

Idea

We worked with the client to produce a comms strategy and action plan alongside a narrative and assets to really sell the brand in-house. It all centered around a virtual launch event with assets created by us such as quizzes, teasers, a brand hub page, copy and content. The launch event kicked off the launch and we helped to keep the chat going with post event support and webinars.

Impact

The launch event recorded SThree's highest ever virtual attendance and we recorded a high number of users and visits to the brand quizzes and fun interactive elements we created. The four 'Virtual Growth' sessions scored around 8.5 out of 10 with attendees, and the client was delighted that such a high-profile and time-pressured event was delivered so well. A global audience presented challenges. English is their lingua franca but we provided editable templates for local comms teams to translate them directly.

EMPLOYER BRAND BOOK

Unleashing Paramount's potential with a new EVP and employer brand

Insight

Paramount needed our help to create a new EVP and employer brand so they could recruit and retain the best possible talent. Our employer brand expert got to work researching who Paramount thought they were, from a leadership and employee point of view. Through a series of workshops, interviews, focus groups and steering group sessions, we uncovered what makes them appealing and why people stay.

Idea

It was all about making Paramount a place where recruits could truly unleash their potential. We created a new Paramount EVP story, bringing it to life with new branding and online creative assets. We identified the proof points and made it simple for people to talk about why they felt proud to be at Paramount.

Impact

100% of employees felt the new employer brand was a strong showcase for Paramount. 84% said they loved the look and feel. 86% have a better understanding of what the business offers them. 96% of HR are clear on the brand and when and how to use it. It was shortlisted for an Employer Branding award.

ROKE

Listening to our people and taking action

Hi there!

This is a toolkit and guide to We Are Roke, our listening and employee check-in tool. Inside, you'll find helpful information about We Are Roke and how it can help our people. Through We Are Roke, Rokies can share what's important to them, what they're thinking, and how they feel. This useful data helps you, as line managers and stakeholders, to understand where we're at as a business. So, please champion We Are Roke with your teams and colleagues. Through it, we're identifying the proactive actions we need to take to keep Roke a place where we can all be extraordinary every day!

Idea

We did research with employees and the business to understand everyone's needs and preferences and create a new approach. We conducted a market review of software, helped the people team create strong new processes and launched a new engagement tool.

Impact

The target take-up was 70% of employees, and we achieved 78%. But more than that, feedback about the system was positive and the people team have an actionable plan to turn employee input into real change.

EMEA COMMS

surgery

Making EMEA messages stand out

Insight

From an IC audit conducted by The Surgery, we knew that the communications experience for employees could feel overwhelming at times - it was a struggle to spot EMEA messages in amongst messages from many other sources. Employees wanted communication to feel more streamlined, less corporate and easier to find.

Idea

Using the corporate style, we wanted to create a standalone brand for all channels coming from the EMEA IC team. Our aim was to make sure that it felt fresh, strong and instantly recognisable. The clever use of the angle from the Marriott font creates a slice graphic that provides flexibility by housing various elements whether it's photography or graphics. And the use of the secondary colour palette makes the content pop.

Impact

Since the brand has been applied to all existing channels, the IC team have received feedback from employees who love the vibrancy and consistency. Having 'EMEA Comms' as an identifier across all their channels has raised the profile of the IC team and made sure that their audiences can more easily recognise messages most relevant to them.

Insight

easyJet's cabin crew are a younger, happy-go-lucky bunch. They don't have time to think about their pension. That was a worry for easyJet and they needed help to find a comms campaign solution.

Idea

Pensions can be a bit boring, right? So, we captured our audience's imagination with a fun, engaging campaign making them easy to understand and encouraging people to start thinking about their financial future.

Impact

A huge rise in pension contributions – in fact, 27% of employees chose to add more to their pension pot every month.

Getting Channel 4 employees to use their noodle and get excited about cyber security

Insight

Channel 4 needed to make online security fun and engaging. They wanted to bring some life to a serious, dry message by grabbing attention and making it easy for their audience to get the information they needed. It had to be simple and stand out from a host of other internal comms messaging by being creative, innovative and visually powerful.

Idea

We got really creative with this one to 'deliver' a brilliant campaign! By turning the key Channel 4 safety actions into a takeaway menu of options, we produced a delicious, fun-copy rich and visually stunning campaign which really stood out. It's bad 'korma' not to look after your digital safety after all!

Impact

The campaign went down like a lovely Friday night chicken tikka. It was unique and, with big, bold and bright visuals became an instant Channel 4 comms classic. It got people intrigued and talking, driving internal discussion and action uptake. It's still making a progressive change to daily working practices thanks to its colourful and highly visual artwork.

Cadent

THE Patch

Read all about it - new print channel for Cadent's Field Force

Insight

Cadent were struggling to engage with their Field Force teams, who traditionally don't 'do' digital internal comms. The existing flagship printed publication, The Patch, had died on the vine during COVID. They needed a new publication which could speak directly to their field teams.

Idea

The existing publication didn't represent the modern, forward-thinking and inclusive organisation Cadent now is. The mag had to balance getting important business-led information across in an easy-to-access and highly visual way. We created a new style and format in print and as a digital PDF. With fewer but more practical stories it now reflects the lives and work of the Cadent community.

Impact

Working closely with Cadent's internal comms partners, the new incarnation of the publication has given them a way to reach people in the field. Competition entries and feedback suggest the magazine is well read and with more digital enhancements planned, it's set to be a great vehicle for creating more interaction with the field about what's happening in Cadent.

You're all super helpful, super smiley and super-efficient, nothing ever seems too much to ask and you clearly have a wealth of experience and knowledge in what you do. I can tell you're a cool bunch and you give me confidence in delivering what I need to for my colleagues!

Transforming how Nestlé's leaders work and think with an immersive experience

Insight

Nestlé were facing a huge challenge – they wanted to be more agile, and instill a more collaborative and innovative mindset in their teams so they could outpace smaller start-up competitors.

Idea

Thanks to our insight gathering elves, we identified the three main blockers to the transformation they needed, allowing us to create immersive events and a stand-out visual campaign.

Impact

A sharp increase in campaign-based workplace activity and engagement with major improvements in every leadership programme target measure.

A dynamic TV-show style virtual event to inspire GBG's people to feel stronger together

Insight

GBG wanted to bring their employees together globally to celebrate the year, thank everyone for their part in their success and to excite them about their future plans.

Idea

A live virtual TV-show experience with no speaker talking for more than nine minutes to keep it dynamic and interesting. We maxed out on the interactivity and created a bespoke virtual photobooth to capture the moment when everyone was 'stronger together'.

Impact

92% agreed that they enjoyed the event,
83% felt inspired to smash the year ahead,
91% felt proud about what GBG do,
87% felt clear on where they're heading and
95% believed they were stronger together.

CULTIVATING COFFEE AS AN ART, TO GROW THE BEST IN EACH OF US surgery

Creating art to create a stronger connection to business purpose

Insight

Nespresso asked us to help their people focus in on their brand purpose. A leadership session was the ideal time to start embedding the message, so we created and facilitated a fun session to zero in on their purpose, explore what it means to them and engage them in it, so they could cascade it to their teams.

Idea

We kicked things off by demonstrating the importance of purpose and how businesses that have one and use it are more successful. Then we brought the Nespresso purpose to life through an art activity inviting participants to depict the consumer journey and their own 'moments of growth' in art. We followed up by delivering a leaders' toolkit.

Impact

We received fantastic feedback from the fun session "... a huge thank you for your work on the leadership day. We have had a wealth of positive feedback; one person said it was the best leadership day they have had. Thank you so much for bringing our purpose to life in such a creative way."

Getting Bauer buzzing about their intranet

Insight

Bauer asked for our help to make their new global intranet launch go with a bang. It was all about creating awareness, excitement and educating people on what to expect from the new platform.

Idea

We developed a character-led approach with "Bee" walking employees through the new intranet. We produced an animation, several GIFs, infographics, email and intranet headers, plus a toolkit, to give Bee some real buzz!

Impact

The new platform launched successfully and we recieved this lovely message from the client: "The toolkit and assets were really well received by our global comms network yesterday, so thank you for all the work so far!"

DIAGEO

#JustSayThanks

Employee-generated recognition campaign

Insight

Diageo launched their #JustSayThanks a year before which proved to be a great success, but they wanted to continue the momentum and refresh the approach to enhance the employee-generated feel with a new activation.

Idea

We created the look and feel, and came up with the idea for the employees to share a picture of themselves doing a positive hand signal, e.g. a heart, thumbs up or clapping, and tag an employee that they want to thank. We wanted to keep track of engagement so created an animated map which showed where the thanks popped up around the world. To promote it, we created a video, Viva Engage posts, Teams backgrounds and more.

View video

Impact

The client loved all that we produced, and said "The #JustSayThanks campaign has been well received and is getting some good traction. We've got 120 comments in a week which is good going during a busy time."

WHAT YOU THINK ABOUT HOW WELL WE COMMUNICATE

Internal comms that work for the business and the employees

Idea

Marriott had just established a new internal communication team and their first priority was to understand how the function was doing. We carried out a detailed audit. This was aimed at:

- Mapping existing channels, evaluating their effectiveness, and identifying gaps.
- Capturing what great communication looked like across diverse internal audiences.
- Providing clear, actionable recommendations to improve the IC strategy, supported by channels that enable meaningful, two-way communication.

Insight

Internal communication at Marriott felt overwhelming and hard to navigate. Messages were often repeated due to unclear ownership and coordination, leaving employees confused. While core channels kept people informed, department-specific updates added to the overload. Senior leadership messages often missed the mark for specific teams. The opportunity was clear: by improving clarity, coordination, and conversation, Marriott could make internal communication more engaging and meaningful.

Impact

We laid the foundation for a strategic approach:

- Short-term: Tactical fixes to streamline content, reduce noise and improve clarity.
- Medium-term: A strategic framework to spotlight priorities, align leaders, and guide employees to what matters most.
- Long-term: Development of tools and technology to enable personalised communication experiences.

Plus, the creation of a global IC network meant tailoring content for local audiences and regular insight. The result: a more connected, coordinated, and impactful internal communication approach.

What you think about how well we communicate

Creating a global voice: Domino Printing's IC Transformation

Insight

Domino Printing's internal comms team consisted of just one person, with limited budget and resources. They needed a clearer picture of how communication was working across their global business. We ran surveys and focus groups to understand what was working, what wasn't, and how people felt about internal communication.

Idea

Using the feedback, we created a new IC strategy focused on five pillars: Channels, Content, Cascade, Conversation, and Champions. These were designed to make communication more global, engaging, and consistent. We launched toolkits, streamlined channels, and empowered managers to have better conversations.

Impact

The 2024 follow-up survey showed big improvements: more people felt informed, the intranet became a key channel, and manager-led conversations increased. IC was described as friendly and transparent, and the strategy helped build a stronger global community. All of this was achieved with minimal budget and a lot of creativity.

It's improving, but we can do more...

Overall, the story of internal comms at Domino is a positive one. The areas we focused on since the last IC review have improved. The intranet has now become an established channel of communication used by 97% of employees. We now communicate with our people in a more structured and inclusive way with better representation from across the group.

However, people sometimes feel confused by how much information is shared and by whom. Communication regarding projects and change was a popular theme, with concern that it's still not easy to identify who's who in the business and who to ask about areas of expertise.

Many people told us that they want a more meaningful connection to our Purpose to inspire and motivate them. They also welcome simple and clear communications from the leadership team and their line managers on the part they play in supporting our business strategy, goals, and priorities.

Rebuilding trust: Teamwork's journey to reconnect employees and leadership

Insight

Teamwork approached us for help with their internal communication strategy, but it quickly became clear there was a bigger challenge that needed addressing. After some restructures and other big changes, employees were frustrated. So, priority number one was understanding the employee viewpoint and how to reconnect them to the business.

Idea

We ran listening sessions to understand employee feelings and explore ways to rebuild trust. The sessions revealed two key issues: a company narrative that didn't match employee reality, and a growing disconnect between leaders and their teams. These findings were shared with leadership and they responded positively. In fact, they acknowledged the challenges and opened up a more honest conversation with the workforce, laying the groundwork for a more empathetic and transparent approach to internal communication.

Impact

The immediate response was really encouraging. Pulse survey results have improved since the listening sessions and leadership have started implementing suggestions to foster openness and change. Feedback from the client was also really positive: "Thank you again for all your work—getting us to this point has been invaluable, and early signs suggest it's making a real difference."

Insight to shape your IC strategy

What sort of comms approach do your people prefer? What gaps have you got in your comms? What do your people like, what don't they like? That sort of insight is a great foundation to building successful IC strategies.

That's why we'll often recommend an IC audit. We start with an all-employee survey giving everyone in your business the chance to have their say about how well your company communicates.

We'll also interview your senior leadership team, your employee groups and other stakeholders to gain their perspective on communication within your business.

We'll review and analyse all this insight and share it back with a set of recommendations to help shape your future IC strategy.

BARN TO BOARDROOM

Bringing our friends, colleagues and clients together to talk all things IC. Our Barn to Boardroom (B2B) networking event was established way back in 2015 and is a chance for IC and engagement professionals to come together and share their challenges, experiences, ideas and frustrations.

We're very lucky to work in a beautiful bit of the West Sussex countryside. Our location (in an old converted barn) gives everyone the time and space, and the freedom they need to think creatively.

At B2B we unearth new thought-provoking and down-to-earth real life stories from our speakers (the sort you won't typically find on the speaker-circuit). We get five-star rave reviews every year, so don't be shy, just ask for an invite.

It's so easy to neglect your own personal development, but events like this, with like-minded IC professionals are a great opportunity to learn, grow and focus on the things that really matter.
